Builders Adopt By-Laws.

The master builders met yesterday afternoon at the office of John Ouderkirk to further perfect their organization. The committee on by-laws reported. The by-laws will not be made public at present. The association will meet again next Monday night.

Sailor Bound Over.

In the police court yesterday, Manu, a native sailor on the James Mabee, was bound over to the circuit court on the charge of assault with a weapon on Kaomea, a fellow sailor. The defendant waived examination. Tuesday night the two men quarreled, which led to a little knife play on the part of Manu.

Admiral Gherardi's Gallant Son.

[From the Philadelphia Record.]
Walter R. Gherardi of the United States navy and the schooner Saratoga, which arrived in port from a four months' cruise last week, may, without hyperbole, be called a hero, for he has three gold medals that were given him for saving lives. The young man is a son of Admiral Gherardi. He is, unlike his father, six feet two inches in height and strongly built, in these respects taking after his mother's family, which is notable for its large men. He got his first medal aboard the Maine, when he went out in charge of a boat to pick up a drowning seaman. The heavy seas capsize and broke the boat to pieces, but Gherardi saved the sailor single-handed. He leaped overboard after a man to win his second medal, and the third was given him for saving lives during the memorable Porto Rico hurricane. He was then in charge of a rescue gang and worked so hard and gallantly and was for so long a time in the water, that he was seriously ill afterward, and it was feared that his health was quite broken. Lieutenant Gherardi is now, however, as vigorous and bold as ever.

How to Treat a Troublesome Corn.

To remove a troublesome corn or bunion: First soak the corn or bunion in warm water to soften it, then pare it down as closely as possible without drawing blood and apply Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice daily, rubbing vigorously for five minutes at each application. A corn plaster should be worn for a few days to protect it from the shoe. As a general liniment for sprains, bruises, lameness and rheumatism, Pain Balm is unequalled. For sale by Benson, Smith & Co., general agents, Territory of Hawaii.
